

Quality Policy

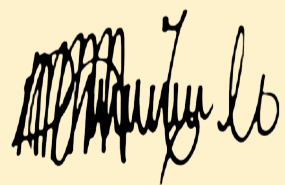

PROESS Consulting Engineers is committed to providing superior Engineering Consulting Services. We labour to exceed customer expectations by providing a cost effective, timely and quality service in accordance with the customer's service requirements.

Our ability to meet these demands is significantly enhanced through a quality management system which satisfies the requirements of the international quality management standard ISO 9001:2015.

We are committed to:

- » Abiding by the regulatory and legislative requirements of our industry
- » The continual review of the quality management system and objectives through management reviews, audits and customer feedback and improvement strategies
- » Instructing staff in the requirements and use of the systems through regular communication and insistence on their applicability
- » Identifying, addressing and responding to risks and opportunities that may affect the business.

The overall responsibility for the Quality Management System lies with the Management Representative under the directorship of the Managing Director.
